THESE SNEAKERS WERE A STEAL.

LITERALLY.

Some people think buying fake products is a real bargain. Let's face it, the purchase of counterfeit designer sneakers is wrong – and for good reason. It's stealing. These products are often made under substandard conditions using stolen trademarks from legitimate companies that pay taxes and provide American jobs. Cheaply made counterfeit products can put you at serious risk of injury and fall apart at the seams, literally.

Counterfeits Hurt. You Have the Power to Stop Them.

Avoid counterfeit products. Visit NCPC.ORG/GETREAL

NATIONAL CRIME PREVENTION COUNCIL

BJA Bureau of Justice Assistance U.S. Department of Justice

©2011 National Crime Prevention Council